1951 Price List — LUDWIG STRAIN DUTCH HYBRID AMARYLLIS

Imported and Sold By Wyndham Hayward, L A K E M O N T G A R D E N S , Winter Park, Florida

The Ludwig Strain of Dutch Hybrid Amaryllis, named varieties and separate shades bulbs, is almost too well known and appreciated in the United States and Europe to need extensive description and illustration. This price list will replace our usual catalogue this season because of high printing costs. Certain of the Ludwig varieties, as Pink Favorite, Pink Perfection, Salmon Joy, Ludwig's Scarlet, Halley, White Giant, Snow Queen, American Express, Fantasy, Shakespeare, etc., are now modern classics of the Amaryllis world, and household words among Amaryllis fans.

The Ludwig named varieties, propagated vegetatively in Holland by the Luyten cuttage method, when well grown are suitable for standing in show competition with any Amaryllis. The separate shades bulbs are seedlings grown every year from the best seed parents in the Ludwig greenhouses in Holland, and are excellent for show purposes, and for breeding stock when it is desired to obtain the best possible material for the least expense.

Lakemont Gardens has been offering Ludwig Amaryllis for several seasons, with notable success in our retail growth and in our forcing of the bulbs for exhibition purposes. We look for the largest business in our 20-year history as Amaryllis specialists with the excellent selection of types available this season.

Because the Ludwig bulbs must travel 3,000 miles over the North Atlantic in midwinter, and will be grown under so many different conditions by various inexperienced growers, we do not guarantee these bulbs to produce exhibition type flowers the first season. We do promise that these bulbs, well grown, will produce flowers which will stand the test of top competition in the Amaryllis field. Copies of our 1949-50 Amaryllis catalogue, with helpful cultural data and other information are still available gratis.

Only the expert greenhouse man can force these Dutch Amaryllis at their best the first season, using warmth above and bottom heat with proper moisture control. But so thrifty are the bulbs that in most cases the amateur and beginner will be able to bloom them in satisfactory manner using the fundamental rules of good Amaryllis culture, without special difficulty.

We expect to forward our first order of the 1951-52 season to Holland for the Ludwig bulbs late in October or early November. Early response to this invitation to enjoy the beauties of Ludwig Amaryllis is essential to be sure of obtaining the most desirable varieties. Subsequent orders will be sent to Holland the first of December, January and possibly February. By the first of December a number of the named varieties are usually sold out. We pack the bulbs with the greatest of care, and last winter, a severe one all over America, not a single shipment was reported damaged by frost.

Postage or express extra on all orders, and may be paid on receipt of the goods in the case of packages sent parcel post. Express shipments will be sent collect.

Certain varieties are not available this year because of propagation requirements in Holland, including Caruso, Fire King, Invincible, Liberator, Mona Lisa, Pink Favorite, Pink Perfection, Orange Wonder. The following varieties have been superseded on the Ludwig list by improved types and are not offered this year: Dutch Gold, Ernst Ludwig, Red Guard, Satan and Scarlet Leader.

Following is the Ludwig list of Hybrid Amaryllis named varieties available in 1951:

AMERICAN EXPRESS, Orient red, dark red throat, eight-inch flowers, showy and spectacular: $5.50.

FANTASY, rose and white type, a fascinating novelty, one of the most popular in recent years, $5.50.

FIDELITY, spinel pink shade, with suffusion of rosy pink, with darker veins and blush-salmon shading. One of the good rose-pink types, light green deep in throat, $4.50.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT, deep currant red to blood red, darkest type on the Ludwig list, very dark throat. $3.50.

HALLEY: lively poppy red, glowing with deeper hues, eight-inch flowers, fine variety; AA rating at Cleveland Amaryllis trials two years. $8.00.

LUDWIG'S SCARLET: magnificent, flat-faced, full rounded form, scarlet to deep red, seven- to eight-inch flowers, vigorous and showy, $4.50.

MOTHER'S DAY, mandarin red with faint striping, flat and round form, very popular, eight- to nine-inch flowers, $3.50.

ORANGE KING, deep vermilion red, somewhat trumpet shaped flower, brilliant and effective, $3.50.

ROSELIND: soft carmine rose, with light rose shading lower part of flower, light green in throat with suggestion of a white star, six- to seven-inch blooms. $4.50.

SALMON JOY, — soft mandarin red, with rich velvety glow and the most perfect, flat, pansy-like form of any Amaryllis we know; eight-inch flowers or more. Imposing and admirable. Always attracts attention when shown. $5.00. We especially recommend this one.

SHAKESPEARE — a glowing oriental red, warm and brilliant, and fine medium trumpet type shape, eight-inch flowers at best. $5.50.

LUDWIG WHITE VARIETIES: These are of superior quality, with varying forms and shapes of the flower, and generally pleasing quality. The color is pure white with light green in the throat. Certain pure whites may show light dots or color in petals under unfavorable conditions but we have never detected this difficulty in the Ludwig varieties:—

Especially recommended: WHITE GIANT, NIVALIS, SNOW QUEEN, $5.00 each. CASPAR LUDWIG, BRIDESMAID, EARLY WHITE, $4.00 each.

Novelties this season:

MARGARET TRUMAN, a new deep-rose variety of the Pink Favorite group, believed to be the finest variety on the Ludwig 1951 list and the outstanding named variety of Hybrid Amaryllis introduced this year. Special permission was obtained from Miss Truman by the proprietor of Lakemont Gardens to name this fine Amaryllis in her honor. The flower form is full and pleasing, the color near Porcelain Rose with Camellia Rose hues, according to the Royal Horticultural Society Color Chart. The blooms are seven- to eight-inch size at best, of faultless shape, round, and the proper depth for a superb flower. The special color is not available in any other Amaryllis that we know in the trade: $15.50 each. Only a few available.

MARIA GORETTI: Free-flowering pure white, nice form, $4.50.

LUDWIG'S DAZZLER: Described as a pure white version of the Ludwig "Favorite" group, large flowers, eight-inches or more, full, flat, dazzlingly white and clear, $7.50.

HELEN: Begonia-pink flower, with light carmine rose striping, and dark veins, with lighter ring in throat; delightful rose-pink variety, $7.50.

AMERICAN FASHION, rose madder, $15.50; BATON ROUGE, signal red, big, flat flowers, $4.50; BOUQUET, begonia and Empire rose, $15.50; BRILLIANT, deep signal red, $5.50; CARDINAL SPELLMAN, carmine rose-red, $4.50; CHERRY QUEEN, cherry red tones, with reflected hues, $4.50. DORIS LILLIAN, Carmine rose with lavender hues, $12.50; LIBERTY, Geranium lake and Claret rose-red, with white ring in throat, round, flat eight-inch flowers, $6.50; MACARTHUR, deep, full vermilion type, sparkling and glossy in sheen, open form, $10.50; PEACEFULNESS, blood red to oriental red, suffused with carmine glow, $7.50; RAY V. DENSLOW, Capsicum red, elegant and graceful, $4.50; RED SPARKLE, Dutch vermilion warm, glowing color, late flowering, $4.50; SHOW GIRL, turkey red, with deeper throat, $4.50; WYNDHAM HAYWARD, dark, orient red, medium rounded, full faced type, eight- to nine-inch blooms, named for the proprietor of Lakemont Gardens by Ludwig & Co., for his contributions "toward popularizing Amaryllis in general and our strain in particular." $7.50.

LUDWIG SEPARATE SHADES AMARYLLIS: These are always popular with our customers, and give the most for the money of any Amaryllis we sell. We offer as usual, five bulbs in separate shades, including PURE WHITE, ROSE-PINK and three other shades as available, selected from SALMON, SCARLET, DARK RED, STRIPED and ORANGE. Five bulbs in all, $10.00 THE COLLECTION. These separate shades bulbs offered only in collections unless we have surplus. No pink or white separately.

 Wyndham Hayward, proprietor

FOR THE SECOND YEAR we are offering the customers of Lakemont Gardens a selected list of named varieties of Hybrid Amaryllis and a limited number of collections of the separate shades bulbs of the Warmenhoven and Zonen strain of Hybrid Amaryllis. The Warmenhoven strain ranks with the Amaryllis of Ludwig & Co., as one of the great names in Dutch Hybrid Amaryllis.

WE WERE INDUCED TO OFFER the Warmenhoven strain last year for the first time because of the excellent showings made by Warmenhoven at the Amaryllis Trials conducted by the Garden Center of Greater Cleveland under horticulturist Thomas R. Manley the past two seasons. Our firm is the first in America listing the authentic named varieties of the Warmenhoven strain under their correct Dutch names as imported direct from Holland.

THIS YEAR A SPECIAL IMPORTATION of top size bulbs will again be available for our American customers. The quantity is strictly limited, and there will be no chance for replacements during the season when our first stock is exhausted. Last season we sold out of every bulb of the Warmenhoven strain a few weeks after receipt of the initial shipment. Without exception the purchasers were appreciative and enthusiastic over the beauty and charm of the Warmenhoven varieties, in their excellent range of colors, and they have served as a helpful and interesting comparison in modern Amaryllis types for Amaryllis growers and fanciers already familiar with the Ludwig & Co. bulbs, besides offering additional opportunities for development of any Amaryllis breeding and hybridizing program.

For an account of the Amaryllis developments of Warmenhoven & Zonen we would refer our customers to page 59 of the 1938 Herbertia, yearbook of the American Plant Life Society, formerly the American Amaryllis Society, where the eminent Ernst H. Krelage wrote that the name of Warmenhoven had then been associated with Amaryllis "for the last 20 years". In that same article Mr. Krelage paid tribute to the Warmenhoven firm for its adoption of the new vegetative propagation methods of increasing named varieties of Hybrid Amaryllis as introduced by a Dutch woman researcher, Ida Luyten, in the 20's. Their Amaryllis, he continued, "are characterized by large flowers of round, ideal shape, and dazzling pure colors of every shade, including pure whites, clear violet shades, delicate pinks, and many others. . . From these various hybrids only the very best individual plants are selected for vegetative propagation. In this way the superiority of the coming stocks is guaranteed."

Further Mr. Krelage reported that "the Winterflora Show held at Haarlem last February had an outstanding group of the firm's hybrids and demonstrated the value of the vegetative reproduction of Amaryllis in a most convincing manner. The group was superior in every respect, and probably contained the very best Amaryllis now in existence".

THE WARMENHOVEN firm has continued the careful development of their breeding stock and the selection of only the highest quality types for named variety propagation to this time. We can recommend them without reserve and feel that they will give American Amaryllis lovers the utmost in satisfaction and quality for the money. Occasionally a bulb will be found in this strain of the wrong shade or color, but in every case that has come to our notice, the quality has been exceptional.

THE FOLLOWING BULBS WILL BE OFFERED FOR 1951 (shipment to be made in late November or December according to ripening-off time for the bulbs in Holland. Last year the bulbs arrived from Holland in mid-December. We cannot guarantee early delivery on these bulbs.)

QUEEN OF THE WHITES -- a fine, large pure white variety, with flaring petals of good substance, somewhat informal in shape, and utterly pleasing when well grown. A few fine dots of pink or red sometimes appear on the inside of the second or third flowers to open, especially under conditions of excessive warmth or moisture. (Illustration above shows a fine specimen as grown by one of our customers.) This variety received an AA rating at the Amaryllis Trials of the Garden Center of Greater Cleveland, higher than any other pure white shown. Price $6.00 each.

WARMENHOVEN STRAIN SEPARATE SHADES AMARYLLIS -- This season for the first time we are able to offer a number of sets of five separate shades of the Warmenhoven strain of Hybrid Amaryllis, pure white, scarlet, orange, dark red, striped and salmon. These are seedlings grown from selected separate shade stock, but of course may show some variation. We imported a few of these collections for special customers last year without advertising them, and they were received with high praise everywhere. The flower types are outstanding but distinct from the usual run of the Ludwig strain and offer interesting comparisons. FIVE SHADES, top size bulbs, including White, Salmon, Scarlet, Dark Red, Striped or Orange, $10.00. A few separate shades bulbs sold separately, except pure white, $3.00 each, as available.

WARMENHOVEN COLLECTION OF NAMED VARIETIES -- We offer this special collection of five named varieties, including Queen Of The Whites, if still unsold, and four other varieties selected from our list, as Sweet Seventeen (pink), Scarlet Beauty, Lucifer, Queen's Page, King of the Stripes, etc. as available. Top size bulbs: Five named varieties, Warmenhoven Strain, $20.00.

Messrs. Warmenhoven & Zonen have also allotted us a limited quantity of their choice new varieties, Red Master, Bordeaux, Orange Favorite, and Scarlet Triumph in top size bulbs. A full account of these is available in the report of the Amaryllis Trials of the Garden Center of Greater Cleveland and they well deserve to rank with the best of the world's Hybrid Amaryllis of today. We also offer a number of two other Warmenhoven pure white named varieties, Mt. Tacoma and Joan of Arc. Bordeaux (orange scarlet) and Scarlet Beauty received Single A awards at the 1950 Amaryllis Trials of the Garden Center of Greater Cleveland. Red Master and Moreno were awarded AA ratings, highest in the dark red group. These two are regarded as among the most desirable quality hybrid Amaryllis today and will be in short supply and doubtless sold out early in the season. Red Master is particularly outstanding.

RED MASTER, "huge dark red of great substance with flat flowers, more than 10 inches diameter at optimum. AA rating, $8.00 each.

MORENO, medium dark red with slight suffusion of rose red in throat, 8 inch flowers, AA rating, $6.00 each.

SCARLET TRIUMPH, an outstanding type in its class, new, $5.00 each.

BORDEAUX, clean light orange scarlet, blending to deep scarlet in throat, up to 10 inch flowers.

Single A rating, $5.00 each.

MT. TACOMA, pure white with faint green tinge in throat. Seven inch flowers. Single A rating, $5.00 each.

JOAN OF ARC, pure glistening white with green in throat, 7 to 8 inch blooms. Single A rating, $5.00 each.

(Mt. Tacoma or Joan of Arc will be supplied in the Warmenhoven named variety collections if Queen of the Whites is sold out.)

SWEET SEVENTEEN, an attractive keeled rose-pink netted and veined variety with bold, wide-open, showy flowers, which proved very popular with our women customers last season: sold separately, $6.00 per bulb.

SCARLET BEAUTY, KING OF THE STRIPES, ORANGE FAVORITE, sold separately, as available, $5.00 each.

AMARYLLIS -- McCANN DOUBLE AMARYLLIS -- CALIFLORA STRAIN AMARYLLIS
 -- GINGER LILIES -- CAMMACK STRAIN NAMED VARIETIES OF FLORIDA GROWN AMARYLLIS --
 -- AMARYLLIS SPECIES -- KAEMPFERIAS -- CURCUMA LILIES -- H. & S. AMARYLLIS --

Sold By WYNDHAM HAYWARD, - LAKEMONT GARDENS, - WINTER PARK, FLA.

MEAD STRAIN HYBRID AMARYLLIS -- this is the leading general purpose strain of Hybrid Amaryllis grown in the United States and sold by the millions annually. It is field grown and abounds in decorative types rather than exhibition or show type flowers. Important in breeding for vigor and thrifty growth qualities. Includes a great variety of forms and color combinations and shades. Few self colors or Leopoldi types. Bulbs $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch diameter and up, three for \$1.00, \$3.50 per doz.

CAMMACK NAMED VARIETIES OF AMARYLLIS -- a strain originated and propagated in Florida, the only stock of vegetatively grown single type named varieties of Amaryllis of American origin available today. Derived with careful selection and breeding mainly from the Mead Strain as a foundation: DARK RED BONNET, nice dark red type, $1.25; PRINCESS ELIZABETH, red striped with white edging, decorative, $1.25; MARGARET ROSE, large rose-red and white, gay and colorful, $1.25; MAIDEN'S BLUSH, pink and white blush, with darker penciling, $2.00; HARVEST MOON, mandarin red open type, $1.25; SALMON QUEEN, salmon-pink, good form, $1.25; RED GLORY, dark glowing red, $1.00; TARTAN, attractive striped form, white and light red, $1.00; GIANT WHITE, $1.25; WINGS OF SNOW, $1.00 each; RUFFLED WHITE, $1.00; SUNRISE, $1.00; ORANGEADE, $1.00; FAIR LADY (pastel orange), $1.00; CAMMACK'S STAR, $1.00; CAMMACK'S NEAR-WHITE, $1.00 each. Red shades mixed, $1.00 each, $10.00 per doz. NEAR WHITES mixed, same price.

McCANN DOUBLE AMARYLLIS: one of the great Amaryllis breeding achievements of the 20th century, originated by the late Capt. J. J. McCann in Florida and the culture continued by his son, E. J. McCann. A wide assortment of double types and colors, MIXED BULBS, $2.00 each, three for $5.00. We suggest a minimum of $5.00 to give a better idea of the McCann doubles. NAMED VARIETIES OF McCANN DOUBLE AMARYLLIS -- HELEN HULL was the first and remains the most popular of the named varieties of the McCann strain. It is a handsome upright orange red with light center markings, graceful and useful as a cut flower, without heaviness or excessive petalage. Center attractively ruffled, $2.50 each. New McCann varieties, introduced last year for the first time, MADIRA BICKEL, ED-LENA and MARY McCANN, $4.00 each. CAPT. McCANN, $2.50 each. Descriptions furnished on request. Kodachromes available on loan against $1.00 deposit for each transparency to assure prompt return.

HOWARD & SMITH STRAIN HYBRID AMARYLLIS -- this is an old favorite with us, offered to our customers for 15 years with success and satisfaction. One of America's fine Amaryllis strains, grown outdoors in California with the best care in irrigation and fertilization, from seed produced from the finest selected parent stock under glass. Original stock was imported from Europe by the late Fred H. Howard. Three bulbs for $2.25 or $7.50 per doz. No less than three bulbs sold, to give a proper idea of the strain.

CALIFLORA STRAIN HYBRID AMARYLLIS -- This is a comparatively new florists type Amaryllis strain developed in California, thrifty and attractive, containing a variety of fine forms and outstanding for the physical quality of the bulbs, which are the finest we have ever seen, entirely apart from the flowers. This makes them excellent for gifts, presentations and awards, and the flower quality is satisfactory for the price in every way. Price $1.00 each, $2.50 for three, and $8.50 per doz. Highly recommended.

AMARYLLIS SPECIES -- AMARYLLIS BELLADONNA, LINN (Hippeastrum equestre), sold out in large sizes, only half size bulbs available, 25¢ each, $2.50 per doz. Prefers hot, sunny, sandy soil. This bulb was the center of the recent Amaryllis-Hippeastrum nomenclature controversy. AMARYLLIS ALBERTI - the rare double Amaryllis, a weak, slow-growing type, but important as the original male parent of the McCann double Amaryllis strain, $2.00 each, small bulbs, $1.00.

AMARYLLIS STRIATA (RUTILA) -- miniature Brazilian species, used in the new miniature Amaryllis breeding work, dainty and charming, makes nice pot plant and useful for cut flowers, $3.00 each. Small bulbs, $1.00 each.

AMARYLLIS STRIATA (RUTILA) VA. FULGIDA, light rose, a more vigorous type, superb pot plant, found in old Florida gardens, and as house plants over the South. Scarce. Small bulbs, $2.00 each, larger $3.00 and $5.00 each as available. AMARYLLIS JOHNSONII - the famous old-time hybrid, found in Southern Gardens, red with narrow white stripes, center of petals, long, trumpet-shaped flower, 75¢ each.

AMARYLLIS ADVENA -- dainty and beautiful, half hardy, miniature Chilean species, grows slender leaves in winter, blooms in late summer after dormancy. Likes sandy soil. Bulb has long neck. Red type, 50¢ each; Pink type $1. ea.

AMARYLLIS RETICULATA VAR. STRIATIFOLIA, named variety, "MRS. GAFFIELD", rose-lavender netted flowers in fall. Rare species, $3.50 each.

CURCUMAS AND KAEMPFERIAS

The Curcumas and Kaempferias are two interesting and beautiful groups of exotic plants from Southeast Asia, as are many of the Ginger Lilies and they have proved sensationally popular with all who have come to know and grow them. They are old plants but almost unknown in the United States, and we offer the largest list in America.

CURCUMAS - two species bloom in the spring with the coming of the leaves, in the form of cones of colorful bracts rising from the rhizome. These need to be established to bloom well. The foliage is striking and handsome, like a large canna. CURCUMA ZEDOARIA, rosy-purple colored bracts and yellow-green leaves with a chocolate stripe down the center, 50¢ and $1.00 each. C. "GIGANTEA", a new tall species up to six feet, with large and showy cones or "pinwheels" of rose-lilac bracts in spring. No less than spectacular. Very rare, $1.00 and $2.00 each.

C. PETIOLATA - The QUEEN LILY, known for years in fine gardens in the South, handsome plaited foliage and pink bracts in the bloom spike in midsummer. A fine thing and useful in arrangements and for cutting, 50¢ and $1.00 each. Larger tubers $2.00. CURCUMA ROSCOEANA, rare, showy species, low-growing, orange-red bracts, very choice, $5.00 each.

KAEMPFERIA ROTUNDA -- one of the great plant novelties - known as "ground orchid" or "tropical crocus", etc. Lovely lavender blooms, ravishingly perfumed, at ground level in spring before foliage. Leaves green and purple, lasting all summer. Plant is dormant in winter. Fine pot plant, curious and remarkable, $1.00, and $2.00 each, according to size. Small tubers 50¢. KAEMPFERIA ATROVIRENS, the most beautiful of the Kaempferias and also the most unusual. Two or three peacock-patterned round leaves and pretty rose-pink frosted flowers in center, blooming day after day. Small, $1.00; larger size roots, $2.50. K. GALANG, another unusual species, fleecy green leaves and little orchid-like white and purple flowers, $1.00 each. K. PARISHII, attractive light green plaited leaves with small pink flowers on four-inch stems, repeating day after day. Makes very small tubers. Three for $1.50.

K. GILBERTI, green pointed leaves with white margin, small purple flower, $1.00 each. HEDYCHUM -- The BUTTERFLY LILIES, showy and half-hardy in at least one case, HEDYCHUM CORONARIUM, the WHITE GINGER of Hawaii or Butterfly Lily of Florida, Gardenia scented, can endure cold all around the Gulf and lower Atlantic coasts, and several hundred miles inland, in protected areas. Great heads of white, perfumed flowers in summer. Likes a pool-side location, or any good, rich soil, also useful in large pots and tubs farther North. Strong roots might be handled in North like Cannas in summer gardens. H. CORONARIUM, $1.00 each. H. FLAVUM slightly taller, "yellow Ginger" fine form, $1.00 each. Also a few rare species, H. PRADHANI, H. THYRSIFLORA, H. AURANTIACUM, etc., $3.00 each, descriptions on request. These are smaller thyrse-flowered types.

ALPINIA SPECIOSA (NUTANS) the gorgeous Shell Lily or Pink Porcelain Ginger of Hawaii, important landscaping plant growing six to ten feet tall in the sub-tropics and valuable for all tropical effects, house decorations, arrangements, etc., $1.00 each. ALPINIA PURPUREA, new rare Red Ginger, small plants $6.00. ALPINIA SPECIOSA MINOR, a smaller type with erect, not drooping inflorescence, two for $1.00. ALPINIA FORMOSA, slender, low-growing form, much used as edging, also an inferior commercial ginger plant, 3 for $1.00. For Alpinia, Hedychium and Costus above see Kong & Tuck, "Hawaiian Flowers", page 86. ZINGIBER OFFICINALIS, ZINGIBER DANCEYI (variegated) and ZINGIBER ZERUMDET, rare types, $1.00 each.

DUTCH IRIS BULBS
1951 Importation Direct from Holland
For Sale by LAKEMONT GARDENS,
WINTER PARK, FLORIDA

Available late October, November and December

THE BEAUTIFUL DUTCH IRIS ARE TRUE BULBS and now include a wide range of colors and forms derived from wild types of the bulbous Iris species found in Spain, Portugal and Northwest Africa. Among the species used in the development of the modern Dutch Iris are Iris Xiphium, I. lusitanica, I. filifolia and I. tingitana. Dutch Iris are known as "The Orchid Iris".

THEY ARE NOW GROWN BY THE MILLIONS in the United States and Holland for winter and spring cut flowers, corsage and garden use. In America they are forced in the greenhouse trade in the North, in coldframes and in the open ground farther South for commercial cut flowers, in which field they are supreme at their time of year.

THE WEDGEWOOD VARIETY, best known of all the Dutch Iris, comes from the species I. tingitana, native to Morocco, and is the earliest and most spectacular of all the species, blooming in the open ground in Florida in mid-February from untreated bulbs. This is at the time of greatest flower demand and scarcity of other flowers so that the blooms are always in demand for home use and for shipping around the Gulf Coast section, where winter frosts are not severe. The Dutch Iris plants will stand 20 degrees or lower for short durations during their growing period without serious effect unless actually in bloom.

IN MORE NORTHERLY REGIONS as the Upper South and the North and Middle West, they bloom later and have proved reasonably hardy with adequate planting protection in winter, which means late planting and care in covering the beds with abundant litter in winter to prevent freezing of the ground.

THE BULBOUS IRIS HAVE BEEN KNOWN FOR HUNDREDS OF YEARS, but the origination of the modern Dutch horticultural forms for the garden and greenhouse dates back only some half a century. Their natural blooming period runs from late January to May and June, according to the climate area where they are grown. They are planted in the late fall and specially treated bulbs may be forced into bloom in the greenhouse by Christmas and early January.

THE DUTCH IRIS ARE DISTINCT from the familiar rhizomatous forms as the Japanese, German and Louisiana Iris. Their foliage is slender and graceful and they can be planted closely, either in rows, say three or four inches apart in the row, and the rows 10 inches apart, or spot planted in large beds around the edges of border plantings and shrubbery.

THIS SEASON WE WILL AGAIN have stock of the leading commercial garden varieties and a few novelties imported direct from Holland, land of their breeding, where they are grown in the open field for world markets by the million. In the Lower South they are fine for garden display, and excellent for cut flowers to use in the home. Commercial growers are raising them by the acre for shipping at this time in the Carolinas and Florida.

WE RECOMMEND WEDGEWOOD, light blue, large-flowered variety, earliest of all, and of marked beauty and charm. There is no other Dutch Iris comparable to it for quality, economy and garden value. We offer the usual garden planting size of bulbs, 6-7 cm., in most varieties and 8-9 cm. for Wedgewood, which makes larger bulbs. We sold many hundreds of these imported bulbs for cut flowers and garden decorations in Central Florida last season and can recommend our stock for thrifty, vigorous growth and free blooming qualities. Other fine varieties are Yellow Queen, White Excelsior, Van Vliet, Blue Triumphator, etc. See below.

PLANT THE BULBS any time in November or December in rich, loamy soil, well drained, with natural moisture or in a location where they may be watered sufficiently. They do not like heavy, wet soil, or soggy locations. Commercial fertilizer (5-7-5) of some good brand should be worked thoroughly into the row when planting, and a side dressing may be given when the plants are six inches or more tall.

STANDARD VARIETIES:

PRICES: 25 for $1.00, $3.00 per 100.

ACHIMENES

GROWN and SOLD by Wyndham Hayward, LAKEMONT GARDENS, Winter Park, Fla., U.S.A.

ACHIMENES is fast becoming the new plant sensation of America. This tuberous plant, of similar culture as the African Violet and Gloxinia, is sweeping the country in its popularity. Our sales of the bulbs have tripled every year for the past three seasons. This season we have grown a large stock of the standard varieties, and have available for the first time a number of the rare, choice kinds in fair quantity at reasonable prices.

Culture is like that of the Gloxinia or African violet, planting five or six tubercles (tiny tubers) in a six inch pot, gallon can, or more of them in porch boxes and hanging baskets of larger size. Any clean, leaf-mold type sandy loam soil, fertile, and rich in humus, but well drained, suits them well. They want part to full shade, like the other Gesneriads, and must have warmth and abundant moisture when growing. Ask for our special cultural and information leaflet on the Achimenes. All Achimenes orders of $2.50 or over sent postfree. Three or six tubercles sold at dozen rate in all cases.

STANDARD VARIETIES

ROYAL PURPLE (Purple King, Pulcherrima, etc.) the best, all-around early Achimenes for general purpose use, in pots, baskets, window and porch boxes, and for bedding in shady places; compact, bushy, Bishop's Violet to Doge Purple flowers in shade according to Royal Horticultural Society Color Chart. 75¢ doz., $5.00 per 100. The foundation variety for every collection, sturdy, free flowering.

PATENS - a lovely, rich and highly colored compact type, foliage veined dark red, flower Petunia Purple (RHS Color Chart) $1.00 doz.

LITTLE BEAUTY--leading salmon-pink variety, handsome dark foliage, flower Neyron Rose (RHS Color Chart). Dwarf, compact, very fine. $1.00 doz.

VIVID - a medium late flowering type, small dark foliage, bright Doge-Purple flowers (RHS Color Chart) usually described as cerise-lake. $1.00 doz.

MADUNA - fine, showy variety with rose-purple flowers and white center, rich green foliage, strikingly veined in dark red, related to PATENS, but taller and more spreading, and very handsome at best. $1.00 doz.

ANDERSONI -- easy growing, with light green foliage rather trailing habit, beautiful deep blue flowers with pastel effects, excellent. $1.00 doz.

MME. GEHEUNE (Grandiflora) - one of the finest for foliage and flower effects combined, handsome bronzy red tomentose leaves and stem, erect and bushy, attractive rose-purple flowers with light center. Easy. $1.00 doz.

MARGARITA (Purity), pure white with slight yellow tint at center eye. A temperamental variety, nice green foliage, rather trailing habit, very pretty when well grown. The best pure white. $1.50 per doz.

LOVELINESS -- small flowered compact dwarf type, late flowering, abundant blooms often cover plant completely. Clear Violet shade. $1.00 doz.

DAINTY QUEEN -- Large white flowers up to 2½ inches diameter, with lavender dot in center and faint lavender lines on lobes of corolla. General effect is pure white a few feet away. Plant is more vigorous and free flowering and generally dependable than Margarita. Superb. $1.00 doz.

ATROPURPUREA -- a handsome compact, light green foliaged type, early blooming, flowers rich purple with clear sheen and lighter throat. A sturdy vigorous plant, appealing to all. $1.00 doz.

SELECT ACHIMENES VARIETIES (CHOICE and RARE)

PINK BEAUTY (Adele de la Haute) this is an old form of the A. longiflora with luscious lavender-pink flowers, distinctly rose-pink at center and one of the most attractive of all varieties. $1.50 per doz.

VENUSTA -- a popular variety, which goes back to 1849, with the famous semi-double flowers, the only Achimenes of this kind we know. The flowers are borne most abundantly on a bushy, dwarf, compact plant, and are of a sparkling clear violet purple, with a tiny rose-bud of doubling of the petals in the center. This variety is distinct and recognized at once on first viewing; foliage is rich, dark green, reddish on undersides of the leaves. Cannot be too highly recommended. $1.50 doz.

PULCHELLA -- the brightest red of all Achimenes, a true scarlet, tiny flowers in profusion late in the season. Small light green foliage, bushy and rather trailing in habit, fine for baskets or boxes. $2.00 doz.

MINIATA - (Crimson Glow, Smoky Red, etc.) This is the best known all purpose Achimenes, with flower of cherry red to deep carmine tones, having a slight yellowish throat. Early flowering. $2.00 doz.

MAGNIFICUM (A. longiflora Major) This is the most popular of the large flowered Achimenes grown today, giant flowers, like a big blue petunia, of the same Hyacinth Blue as the Achimenes Galatea, but larger blooms, to 2½ or 3 inches in diameter. Taller stems and not as free flowering as Galatea. Handsome erect medium green foliage. Height to 12 or 14 inches. May be pinched to more compact form. $2.00 per doz.

NESSIDA - a rare novelty, pleasing light green foliage erect with what we consider the most beautiful flower of all Achimenes, outer part of corolla Amethyst Violet and center Cadmium orange, according to RHS COLOR CHART nomenclature. Not as free blooming with us as others, but still too new to be sure about this. $2.50 doz.

CATTLEYA -- the loveliest pastel Achimenes in the opinion of many women customers, lavender shading on white base, deeper lavender at center and faint lavender lines centering lobes of corolla. It is of the A. longiflora type, and admired by every visitor to our lath houses in summer. Still scarce. The nearest to an ideal orchid tinting of any of the Achimenes. Very fine, $2.50 doz.

MME. GEORGES -- a strictly fetching shade of violet purple, dark reddish green foliage, rather trailing habit. $2.00 doz.

MASTERPIECE -- lush, bronzy green foliage, distinct and striking, reddish stems, compact, medium height, serrate-edged leaves, formal, dignified and erect, unlike any other, rich medium purple flowers. $2.00 doz.

MASTER INGRAMI -- luxuriant, rather trailing type, similar to Miniata, larger in foliage size and stems, crimson-red flowers, not as free blooming as some varieties, but quite distinct. Needs good culture. $2.50 doz.

VERSCHAFFELTII -- an old and ever-popular Achimenes, with dark green small type foliage, especially free flowering and showy in pots and boxes, medium size flowers with open throats, lavender-purple lined and shades on white in pleasing pattern. Very distinct and different. $2.00 doz.

CARMINE QUEEN -- deep Crimson tones, compact habit like Loveliness, earlier flowering period, flowers slightly larger. Small foliage. New with us this year. 35¢ each.

ACHIMENES TUBIFLORA - a tall-growing species with long-tubed white flowers blooming in early summer, unusual and distinct, unlike the other Achimenes in plant, flower or tubers. The latter are round and fleshy like the Gesnerias or a potato. Three for $1.00. Largest size $1.00 each.

FRANCOIS CARDINALIS, rare dwarf variety, light green foliage, blue and white small trumpet-shaped flowers, 50¢ ea. MEXICANA, form of the blue A. longiflora with distinct white blotch in center of flower, $1.50 doz. LADY LITTLETON, a tall growing form, rose-purple flowers with orange dotted throat, 50¢ ea. PERIWINKLE BLUE, a milky blue shade, 25¢ each. BROWN'S LAVENDER (probably A. Scheeri) deep blue, light foliage, distinct, 25¢ each. BIG BOY BLUE, a tall giant variety similar to MAGNIFICUM, but having orange throat, 50¢ each.

- SPECIAL COLLECTIONS -

TEN VARIETIES, our selection, TWO tubercles of each (20 in all) $2.50. TWENTY VARIETIES, our selection, five each, 100 in all, $5.00. SHADES OF BLUE, one of our finest assortments, $1.50 doz., $10.00 per 100. STANDARD VARIETIES MIXED, 75¢ doz., $5.00 per 100. CHOICE AND RARE VARIETIES MIXED, $1.50 per doz., $10.00 per 100. Three or six at doz. rate on all Achimenes varieties. Shipments: January through April except in cold spells.
